

Join in the conversation

Bring a bottle

Date: 06/03/2014

Time: 19.30

WRI Hall, Comrie

The Incorporating Act of Union between Scotland and England in 1707 has had a profound impact on Scottish, English and British history for the last 307 years. In September 2014 Scots will be asked to vote on an independence referendum for the first time since that date. Nevertheless, is Scottish history relevant to the current debate? Dr Ann Petrie will be exploring some of these issues in order to address that question with a particular focus on the 1707 Union.

- Causes of the 1707 Act of Union.
- Explaining the 1707 Union.
- Impact of the 1707 Union.
- Consideration of major historiographical debates surrounding the event.
- A perspective presented as to whether it is relevant to the vote in September 2014.